Learn how you can eliminate
two major problem areas
in your data processing system!

Any bottleneck in your EDP system can cause your business to bog down. What are the two major problem areas? According to EDP experts, the two most obvious causes of bottlenecks in data processing systems are: 1) punch cards and 2) the inability to get information from remote sites to the central processor.

This free report from NCR explains how you can eliminate punch cards from your present EDP system. You'll also learn how you can have immediate, economical access to information in your branch offices and remote work centers.

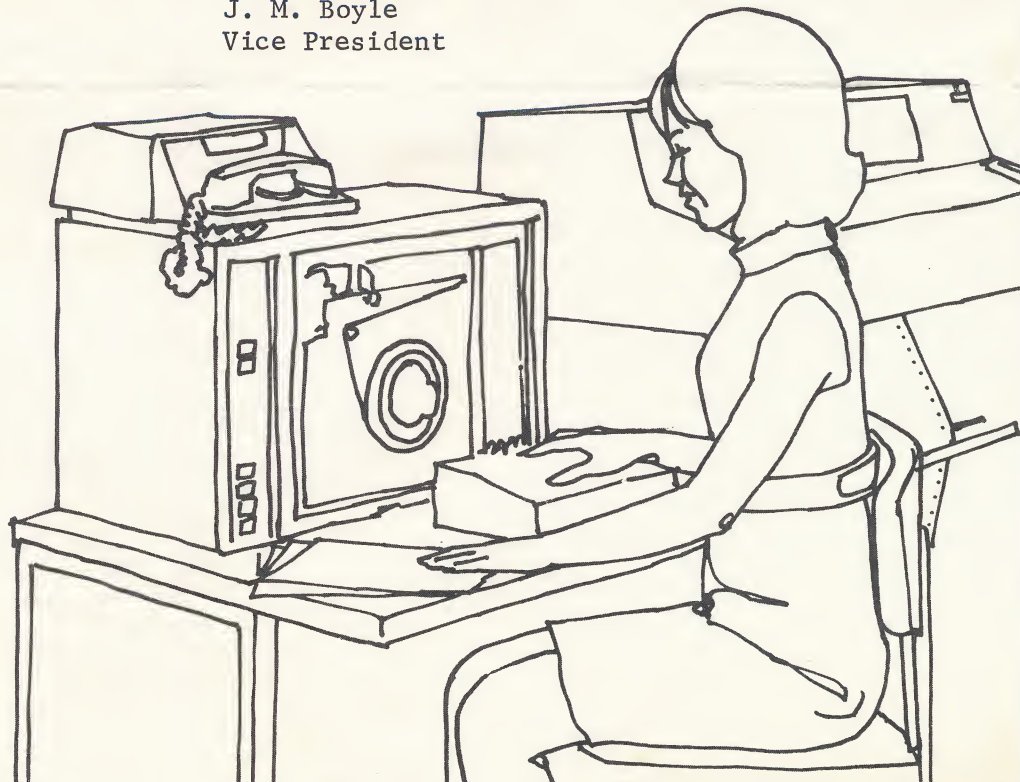

You'll want every key member of your EDP staff to read this special management report, "The NCR Family of Magnetic Tape Encoders." It's a result-oriented report, one you'll want to keep on hand for ready reference.

To get your free copy, simply return the enclosed card. We'll send the report directly to you by return mail. There's no cost or any obligation involved.

Sincerely,

J. M. Boyle
Vice President
